
Sergey Korytov - paintings.

Lyrical landscape... One of the most popular branches of painting, landscape will always be in fashion.
It is realistic, full of harmony, awakens pleasant feelings and images T all these are scarce to people who are used to a rougher urban culture.

Landscape is more than an instant fixed onto the canvas;
it is also the world created by the painter.
That is why even one place depicted by different people will never look the same.

The works of Sergey are full of Russian spirit.
Russian landscape is both easy and difficult.
There is something in it which is hard to catch,
mystery which is hard to solve.
His goal is not bright and gorgeous colors of nature;
he shows the Nature as it is, without excessive decoration.

Siberia provides the variety of spectacular views to those who search for them.
